

Floyd Central Theatre to perform at New Albany river front ampitheatre

Written by George Browning

Tuesday, 25 May 2010 00:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 25 May 2010 11:49

The award winning Floyd Central Theatre Arts Department under the direction of Chris Bundy will present an eclectic evening of music and comedy on the New Albany Riverfront Stage on the evening of May 29th at 7:30 p.m.

Part one of the evening is entitled "Rivertown Hoop-Dee-Doo Revue" and features songs and comedy with a pioneer flair taking on the fun of an old time traveling medicine show. Some of the featured songs include, "Raise-a-Ruckus," "Oh Susannah," "Down To The River To Pray," "My Sweetheart's The Man In The Moon," a large selection of songs from the Broadway musical, "Big River" and other musical selections.

Following a short intermission, the troupe of talented performers will continue the evening with a Broadway cabaret featuring hits from more contemporary musicals.

The public is invited to attend the free evening of entertainment on the New Albany riverfront and bring a lawn chair for this entertaining evening of music and comedy sponsored through a grant from the Horseshoe Foundation.