

?Hospice of Southern Indiana hosts Style Show and Dance Competition

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 30 July 2008 00:00 - Last Updated Wednesday, 30 July 2008 10:08

? The Hospice of Southern Indiana will be hosting United We Stand Style Show and Dance Competition to benefit local patients and families.

Between waltz and tango, models easing down the runway, the silent auction and hors d'oeuvres, the Second Annual United We Stand Style Show and Dance Competition promises to be an evening to remember. Mark your calendars now for this fundraiser, 7p.m., Tuesday, September 9 at Huber's Orchard & Winery, Plantation Hall, 19816 Huber Rd., Starlight, In.

Tickets are $50 per person. The event included appetizers, soft drinks and a cash bar. For information, contact Tim Eberle at 812-945-4596 or teberle@hospice.org.

Along with placing bids on silent auction items, guests will have the chance to place their $1 vote for the best dancers in the "Dancing with the Southern Indiana Stars" competition. Folks like former University of Louisville Basketball coach Denny Crum, Steve Stumler, owner of Grant Line Nursery & Garden Center and Felecia Koerber, co-owner of Koerber's Fine Jewelry are among a few of the local celebs who will dance the night away for Hosparus.

Proceeds from United We Stand will benefit Hospice of Southern Indiana patients and their families.

For 30 years, Hosparus, a fully accredited non-profit organization, has provided care, comfort and counseling for people facing life-limiting illnesses in 23 Kentucky and Southern Indiana counties. Delivering care through Hospice of Louisville, Southern Indiana and Central Kentucky, Hosparus cares for more than 4,500 patients and their families each year. To learn more about Hosparus services, visit www.hosparus.org.