

Girls' sectional semi-finals are set for Friday night

Last Updated Thursday, 09 February 2012 11:29

The following is a look at the matchups at the sectionals of interest in Green Banner Publications' coverage area set to take place on Friday night.

Class A

Sectional 61 at West Washington

Friday's 6 p.m. game will feature Trinity Lutheran taking the floor for the first time this post-season against Springs Valley.

The Lady Blackhawks advanced with a win over Crothersville Tuesday night.

The second game at West Washington Friday will feature two winners from Wednesday.

Orleans won a closer than expected game against Medora and Northeast Dubois won easily over the host Lady Senators.

The Orleans-NE Dubois game is set to tip around 7:45 p.m.

Sectional 62 at Borden

Girls' sectional semi-finals are set for Friday night

Last Updated Thursday, 09 February 2012 11:29

Rock Creek Academy drew the first round bye and awaited the winner of the Borden-Christian Academy contest.

The Lady Braves advanced and Friday's game against RCA is set to begin at 6 p.m.

Friday's second game at Borden, which is slated to get underway at 7:45 p.m., will feature New Washington, which reached the semi-finals by virtue of a bye and the South Central Lady Rebels.

The New Washington-South Central game is a rematch of a game played Jan. 21 that the Lady Mustangs won 72-54.

Class 2A

Sectional 46 at Pekin

There were two teams who received byes in the 2A sectional at Pekin and both will be in action Friday.

The first game will feature Paoli and Providence. Paoli reached the semis thanks to a bye and Providence beat Henryville to advance.

The Paoli-Providence game will get started at 6 p.m.

The second game, which will get underway at 7:45 p.m. will pit Crawford County taking on the host Lady Musketeers.

Crawford drew a bye to reach the semi-finals and Eastern dismantled Clarksville.

The Crawford-Eastern game is a rematch of a game the Lady Musketeers won 72-47 in the regular season.

Class 3A

Sectional 30 at Charlestown

Any of the four teams remaining in the 3A sectional at Charlestown have the potential to win it. The semi-finals should prove to be one of the best in the state.

North Harrison knocked off Salem Tuesday in the first round. That win set up a re-match against Scottsburg, which reached the semis by virtue of a bye.

The Lady Cats and the Lady Warriorettes battled earlier in the year with Scottsburg winning big, but North Harrison has been playing better of late and have been in every ball game this year.

That game will get underway at 6 p.m.

Winners from last night (Wednesday), Brownstown-Corydon, will play in the other semi-final game, which is set to begin at 7:45 p.m.

Brownstown advanced by knocking off Charlestown and Corydon upset Silver Creek.

Girls' sectional semi-finals are set for Friday night

Last Updated Thursday, 09 February 2012 11:29

When Brownstown and Corydon played during the regular season, the Lady Braves won 55-47.

Class 4A

Sectional 15 at Seymour

Friday's first semi-final will feature Bedford North Lawrence taking on Jennings County. Jennings reached the semi-finals thanks to the bye, while BNL had to get through defending state champ Jeffersonville.

The Lady Stars will tip against JCHS at 6 p.m.

The second semi-final is scheduled to start at 7:45 p.m. and will feature New Albany, which drew a first round bye, taking on Seymour.

The Lady Bulldogs lost 55-47 to the Lady Owls during the regular season.

The cost to enter the sectional is $6 per session or tickets for both Friday and Saturday may be purchased for $10.