

Happy Days star found dead in Harrison County

Written by George Browning
Tuesday, 25 April 2017 08:29 -

On Saturday, April 22, Erin Marie Moran-Fleischmann, who played Joanie on the hit television series "Happy Days" died at her residence in New Salisbury.

A joint investigation into her death was conducted by the Harrison County Sheriff's Department and the Harrison County Coroner's Office. A subsequent autopsy revealed that Moran-Fleischmann likely succumbed to complications of stage 4 cancer.

Standard toxicology tests were performed and the results are pending, however, no illegal narcotics were found at the residence, according Harrison County Sheriff Rod Seelye.