Eight young women will be competing for the title of Miss Clark County this year.

Miss Clark County is the official hostess of the Clark County 4-H Fair which is set for July 9-17 and then represents Clark County in the Indiana State Fair Queen Pageant August 20-22 in Indianapolis.

The competition is based on three levels of participation: private interview with the judges in the afternoon and the professional wear and evening gown at the public pageant in the evening.

Amy Herrmann, 2009 Fair Queen will crown Miss Clark County 2010 on Tuesday, June 29 at 7 p.m. The pageant will be held at Providence High School Robinson Performing Arts Center. The public is invited. Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

The candidates for the title of 2010 Miss Clark County are:

Emilee Ann Carver is 19 years old and a sophomore at Indiana University Southeast in New Albany. Her parents are Ron and Sandy Carver. She is sponsored by R.L. Jones Realty and Auction of Sellersburg.
