

Clarksville police have been searching for John Stensrud for nearly a month.

He was last seen wearing a dark coat, hoodie, black gloves, tan boots and a dark baseball hat.

Stensrud left his brother Paul's house in Clarksville's Parkwood Subdivision around 5 p.m. on Dec. 31, 2012.

He was walking north and never returned.

He had snacks and cigarettes.

He has tattoos on both arms. On one arm a bat and a female with a guitar on the other. He also has burn scars on his shoulder blades, left arm, head and leg.

Stensrud is the brother of Paul Stensrud, who is co-founder of the ministry Jesus Cares at Exit 0, which is a homeless outreach in Southern Indiana.

If anyone has information about Stensrud, they are encouraged to call the Clarksville Police Department at 602-288-7151.
