

Clark Memorial Hospital shares how Bariatric Program patients lost over five thousand pounds

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 05 August 2009 00:00 - Last Updated Wednesday, 05 August 2009 08:19

Clark Memorial Hospital's Bariatric Program is holding a free seminar on Thursday, August 13 at 6:30 p.m. for anyone considering a gastric banding procedure for weight loss.

The free information seminar includes a presentation by surgeons Dr. Brice Hamilton and Dr. Daniel MacMillan. During the presentation, the surgeons will discuss obesity and the gastric banding procedure. Program Coordinator Carolyn McKee will also speak on the benefits of the comprehensive follow-up program at Clark Memorial, program successes, including a total weight loss for the program of over 5,000 pounds, and basic insurance information. A question and answer time will conclude the seminar.

The seminar is free to the public, however, reservations are requested. To register, or for more information on the bariatric program, contact Clark Memorial's Bariatric Program Coordinator, Carolyn McKee at (812) 283-2087.