

Folks gathered last Saturday in Pekin park to look back on the events that took place in the afternoon of March 2, 2012.

A year after the deadly tornado that ripped through the Pekin community, some have finished rebuilding and others still have a way to go. Pictured above are those who attended preparing for the balloon release.