

Conservation officers investigate ATV Accident

Written by George Browning
Tuesday, 30 July 2013 00:00 -

Indiana Conservation Officers are investigating an ATV accident with injuries in Washington County. At approximately 4:00 PM Sunday afternoon, Indiana Conservation Officers along with Gibson Township Volunteer Fire Department and Washington County Ambulance Service responded to an ATV accident on Pumpkin Center Road in rural Washington County.

The operator, Sharon Dillon (47) of Pekin, was attempting to climb a hill when the ATV flipped over on her. Dillon suffered injuries to her arm. She was transported by ambulance to University of Louisville Hospital.

Dillon was not wearing protective gear at the time of the accident. Indiana Conservation Officers would like to remind all riders to wear protective gear.